

RETURNING TO THE WELL: THRIVING IN THE MIDST OF CHAOS CREATIVITY INTENSIVES FOR 2011

THE SUPER NOVA PACE OF CHANGE IN OUR WORLD IS PRODUCING PALPABLE CHAOS, BOTH WITHIN AND AROUND US. IT'S UNCOMFORTABLE, UNPREDICTABLE AND INTENSE.

Yet chaos breaks up conventions. It reverses conceptual frameworks. The higher the heat index on chaos, the more potential we have for creativity and a whole-scale reinvention of old patterns and belief systems that no longer function for us. How we create a container for this increasing chaos is the most beautiful opportunity we face.

Creative Ground is hosting two island intensives this winter 2010 (Whidbey Island, Washington) and spring 2011 (Moloka'i, Hawaii). Both intensives will focus on exploration and cultivation of our authentic power and leadership in a world of radical change. We invite participants to co-create new ways of leading for ourselves, our communities and our organizations in this transformational era we are now entering. We will dream, incubate and explore the self-determined individuals we are becoming through creative practice and shamanic dreamwork. Join us.

"Creative Ground created a retreat perfectly matched to the rhythms of the island and the needs of my spirit. I came with few expectations beyond space to "be." I experienced that and much more: Lisa, Sarah and Lauren gently and firmly led me through a journey of self-affirmation and discovery to a deeper connection with my innate purpose and power. Themes with which I have struggled for years reappeared and, through the magic of place, guided dreamwork, incredible support from our group of women and profound insights from our leaders, came together in a new and transformative way. I am deeply grateful."
